

Massachusetts Rattlesnake Conservation Plan Survey

The Massachusetts Fisheries and Wildlife Board is conducting a review of the Rattlesnake Conservation Plan. We are seeking additional advice and comments from citizens who may not have had an opportunity to attend the public meetings held in the late summer and fall of 2016. Your responses will be combined with similar responses, and a public report will be issued in the spring of this year. Please tell us the town you live in; your name and address are not required unless you wish to provide them.

If you wish to read the Executive Summary for the Massachusetts Rattlesnake Conservation Plan, please go to mass.gov/dfw/rattlesnake-summary.

The review is focusing on two main issues; please complete one or both questions below:

- 1. Do you have questions about any aspect of the Rattlesnake Conservation Plan that you believe have not been previously covered or answered? Please describe them in the following space (you can continue on the back of this page if you need more room):

- 2. During the public meetings on the Conservation Plan, some questions were raised about the accuracy of the science behind the Plan. If you have reason to believe that there is scientific evidence that has been overlooked, or a matter of science that you question, please describe this in the space below, and on the back of this page, if necessary. For each scientific comment, please supply a source or citation for any overlooked or alternative scientific information.
